

Dr. Caroway

Dr. James E. Caroway, 75, of Wayah Valley, died Friday.

October 18, at his home after two years of declining health. He was a native of Tennessee and had lived in Macon County for the past ten years. He was a retired physician and had served for 35 years on the staff of Annapolia Hospital in Wayne, Mich. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan, a member of A.O.A., a veteran of World Wars I and II, having served as Captain in the U.S.A.F. Medical Corps.

Graveside services were conducted Sunday, October 20, at Woodlawn Cemetery by the Rev. C. E. Murray. Pallbearers were Ed Purdom, Robert Korte, Edward Gregory, Tom Butts, Alexander Key and Earl Henry.

He is survived by a son, John Caroway, of Jacksonville, Fla.; a niece, Mrs. David Sewell, of Macomb, Ill.; and one granddaughter.

Memorial gifts may be made to Operation Heartbeat, Angel Community Hospital.

Bryant Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.