

Betty Dickerson

Betty Gragg Dickerson, 67, of Rabun Gap, died July 2, 2002, in Rabun County Memorial Hospital.

Born in Rabun County, she was the daughter of Nay Nunnally Gragg and the late Rev. Otis Gragg. She was a retired supervisor in the textile industry. She was a lifelong resident of Rabun and a member of the Blue Heights Baptist Church.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Jean Lawrence.

Survivors include her husband, Donald B. Dickerson of the home; one son, Thomas (Sparkie) Whitmire of Rabun Gap; one daughter, Kay Whitmire York of Rabun Gap; mother, May Nunnally Gragg of Clayton; one sister, Ruby Gragg Holbrook of Mt. Airy; five grandchildren, Heather Franks, reared in the home of Rabun Gap, Michelle Farmer of Rabun Gap, Tonya Parsons of Homer, Rebecca Whitmire and Stephanie Carter, both of Thornfield, Mo.; and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held July 6, 2002, at the Blue Heights Baptist Church with Rev. Donald Holbrook and layman Lloyd Hunter officiating. Burial followed in the Wolfork Baptist Church Cemetery.

Hunter Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

The Clayton Tribune, July 11, 2002