

C. F. OLIVER FUNERAL HELD

Native Of Macon Dies At Clemmons At 74; Is Buried Here

Funeral services for Charles F. Oliver, 74, a Macon County native, were held Wednesday of last week at 3 p. m. at the Potts Funeral home chapel here.

Mr. Oliver, a carpenter, died October 22 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herman Kenter, of Clemmons, N. C., after a long illness.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. George A. Cloer. Burial was in the Coweeta Baptist church cemetery.

Mr. Oliver was born September 2, 1877, the son of George M. and Mrs. Amella Moore Oliver, and was married December 30, 1897, to Miss Jane Holbrooks, of this county.

Survivors include his widow; four sons, Marlon A. and Jesse, of Winston-Salem, Elmer, of Wadesboro, and Harry L., of Childersburg, Ala.; seven daughters, Mrs. Zeb Norton, of Franklin, Mrs. J. K. Clontz, of Morganton, Mrs. Roger McKelvin, of Charleston, S. C., Mrs. C. E. Rogers, of Winston-Salem, Mrs. C. M. Jolly, of Lexington, Mrs. R. E. Wooten, of Elkin, and Mrs. Herman Ketner, of Clemmons; two brothers, Bert, of Franklin, and John, of Spartanburg, S. C.; three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Garrett, of Bessemer City, Mrs. Carrie Arnold, of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Eva Campbell, of South Carolina; and 25 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.